ಸಿರಿಗನ್ನಡಂ ಗೆಲ್ಗೆ!

Welcome! Learning Kannada as a grown-up

Fifteen minutes a day: talk first, then a little writing.

How it works

★ 1. One conversation lesson a day

Learning corner → My lessons. Listen, repeat, then use one phrase with a real person before the next lesson.

★ 2. Write a little every day

Trace today's letters on screen (Gini shows the start and the arrows), then once on paper. Ten letters a week gets you reading in a few months.

★ 3. Print, practise, stick it up

The fridge sheet (40 everyday phrases), conversation cards to act out with your partner, and tracing sheets. All in Printables.

★ 4. Real-life packs

Calling family in India, the temple, weddings, visiting Karnataka: phrases you'll use this month.

Habits that work for busy adults

- Attach it to something you already do: morning coffee, the commute, after the kids' bedtime.
- Speak with your partner for 5 minutes a day, even if it's just the phrase of the day.
- Keep a small notebook: write each new letter three times, and one word you heard.
- Label your home with the sheet in this kit. You'll read Kannada every time you open a door.
- Don't wait to be perfect. Families love hearing you try.
